“ Barbara and Bobby were our neighbors for a long time. Even after they moved we still got together to play cards and still keep in touch. We lost touch for awhile. I lost my husband and son and we didn't see each other like we once did. We still talked and she let me know that she was really sick and she asked me to pray for her family as they were having a hard time with her being sick. She was a strong woman in every respect. She wasn't afraid of dying, because she was going to a better place. A word to her family, she is in no more pain. and can breathe without oxygen. and she wants you to go on living your lives.
