“ I will always remember that we would always joke and ask each other where our steak was, It started out one day that I called uncle Clyde and when he answered he say hey boy whatcha up to, lol then I would say nothing then I would ask him what he was doing he would then say cooking some steak I would ask him where's mine it then carried on from there. Well tonight for dinner I went to dinner with my wife and kids and pulled into the parking lot of Texas Roadhouse and the spot next to me was this sign that read combat wounded Purple Heart then I went inside sat down and the servers were wearing shirts that read serving those that served us. It all touched my heart so tonight for dinner I had a nice BIG juicy steak in honor of uncle Clyde. Love and miss you uncle Clyde
