“ Faye and Wayne, There is no sorrow like that of losing a child. You wish it could have been you. The pain is excruciating but God will see you thru it and way into the future you can began to live a little again. I feel your sorrow. I have been there. Numbness finally replaces the pain and finally you can think of him without crying. I keep mine out of my mind as best as I can. We all deal with it a different way. Just whatever will get you thru. Love you both. Chris Sumner
