“ Greg or Tinker as I knew him mostly was a good person something that is rare these days. Feel bad that we grew apart late and really never understood why. I guess we started our friendship back at Northeast College when Mrs Blankenship said she would pass anyone who could tell her the major writing style for Shakespeare Greg sitting in front of me trusted ny guess and in happened to br right. He passed and was really happy to get out of English literature. :) Best man at his first marriage but on man that girl never understood what he saw in her. Cannot really tell about what kind of time we had there in Ohio statues still might apply. My condolences to Dora, Kim, Sandra, Deon, and all the family.
