“ You all may have forgotten the life John and I had a long time ago. It just did not work out for us but he was my first love and I have loved him ever since. Although we could not be husband and wife we were always friends. We had three beautiful children together. The only children either of us have had. I loved the Brandon family like they were my own. The memories are mine and John's that we shared even though we could never be together. Part of my life, my most endearing memories with John will always be in my heart.

I love you mom! You and dad never ever spoke an ill word to us kids about one another and that has really made an impact on my life. I wish things could have worked out differently. XO
