“ Mrs. Sharp was my first grade, fourth grade, and seventh grade science teacher. Then she joined the Scottsboro High School faculty my last two years in high school to teach English and speech. She was a multi-talented and multiple discipline teacher. I would not have been surprised to walk into my university music appreciation or biology classes to discover that Mrs. Sharp would be my teacher. I became an educator—teaching briefly grades and subjects Mrs. Sharp once taught me. But, I lacked her versatility, and soon settled on one subject/one age group. I know I would not have enjoyed a forty year career as an educator were it not for teachers like Mrs. Sharp. I regret that I cannot offer my sympathy in person; I have a class to teach at the time of her memorial service, and I know Mrs. Sharp would not want me to ignore the call of duty.
