“ *Michael worked for Joe and me for about 5-6 years off and on. He was a thorough worker, proud of his work, who always liked to talk. He knew a lot of different trades. The last project he worked on for us was fixing and repainting our 6' high backyard fence, along with gates, etc. He spent much more time repairing and prepping than in painting, saying that anybody could call themselves a painter but not everyone could do it right. We are sorry to see him go. He kept an eye out for me when I was sick, even though he didn't always take care of himself. God bless and keep him, and sincere condolences to the whole family.
