Really? Its your mother in law that murdered my uncle She took his life with no regard for him or his family My grandmother, who was visited by him in nursing home, passed away shortly bc she knew something was wrong

She also called out for him on the night he was murdered The audaciously of you lighting a candle for him is a slap in my families face

“ To my beautiful sweet cousins. I'm so sorry for your loss. Your daddy loved you kids and will always be your angel now. I wish I could be there and hug your neck. Until then just try and remember all the good times and memories you all had with him. I know it's hard to stay strong but remember you have a lot of family and friends here to support you. I love you and am keeping you all in my constant prayers
